

Milton
Mass

1860.
Milton, Mass

Dear Mr. Richardson,

In reply to your note asking whether my daughter and myself might not have some juvenile poetical contributions for the Congregationalist I will say for both that it is quite likely, - being as we are in the midst of little folks' interests and suggestions. And that if we should we would

With pleasure offer them to you.

I have not yet forgotten or despaired of the story-sketch which I have promised for the Cong.
And if I gain strength to do some writing this summer I may quite probably begin with that.
At least, I like you to know that I have it in mind, even to a plan thereof.
Although I do not pledge myself to anything.

Yours Truly,
Adeline S. Whitney.